Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Pursuant to a congressional request, GAO reviewed the effectiveness of Social Security Administration (SSA) controls over disability payments made to drug addicts and alcoholics. GAO found that: (1) in the last 5 years, the number of addicts receiving disability benefits has grown from fewer than 100,000 to about 250,000; (2) the cost of providing disability benefits to the addict population is about $1.4 billion per year; (3) the vast majority of addicts receiving disability benefits are not in treatment or their treatment status is unknown; (4) because of poor monitoring by SSA, only about 1 in 5 of the addicts in the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) drug addiction and alcoholism (DAA) program receive required treatment; (5) about 100,000 addicts have not been assigned a third-party or representative payee to manage their benefits; (6) organizational payees are better positioned than friends or relatives to provide tight controls over benefit payments; and (7) SSA needs to ensure that all DAA recipients are in treatment and that all addicts have a third-party or representative payee.
