The World and Its People

By Anna B. Badlam

RareBooksClub. Paperback. Book Condition: New. Paperback. 140 pages. Dimensions: 9.7in. x 7.4in. x 0.3in. Excerpt: . . . under the rule of the native king, is said to have a population of three millions. The natives are well formed and in many respects do not show the peculiarities of form and feature found in the negro race. They are cleanly in their habits, and do not neglect their daily bath. After bathing they anoint themselves with the oil from the butter tree. This is a good cosmetic, and keeps the skin in fine condition in so hot and trying a climate. Among the better class the clothing consists of an immense cloak. Sometimes it is made of the most costly silk. In time of warfare this dress is changed for a close vest covered with metal ornaments and scraps of Moorish writing. These are considered charms against danger. Loose cotton drawers, and large boots made of a dull red leather, complete the costume. The great chiefs wear gold breastplates; and as many of the natives as are able wear a profusion of gold ornaments. The king of Ashantee has over three thousand women laborers, whom he has purchased from their parents...

This book can be well worth a go through, and a lot better than other. It is written in simple words and phrases and not confusing. It has been printed in an exceptionally simple way in fact it is merely right after I finished reading through this pdf by which basically changed me, modified the way I think.
