Alanson Alvord Revelation 14: 13 And I heard a voice from heaven, saying unto me, write, blessed are the dead which die in the Lord, from henceforth; yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors, and their works do follow them. Death is the common lot of man. Universal experience, as well as revelation, demonstrates the fact, that it is appointed unto all men, once to die. In view of this truth, if left to the guidance of the light of nature alone, man might weep, and wonder, and doubt. With no teacher but human reason, he might drop the tear of sorrow on the tomb which enclosed the remains of his earthly all, while beyond that gloomy recess, all would be dark and uncertain. Though with the penetration, and the learning, of a Socrates, or a Plato, he might reason, and speculate, concerning the ultimate destination of man, still doubts on doubts...
