Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from A Study of Various Sources of Sugar: Sugar-Cane, Sorghums, Sugar Beet, Maple, Watermelons, Etc To Dr. George B. Loring, Commissioner of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. Dear Sir: In inviting your attention to the following pages, in which the undersigned has attempted to examine into the various sources of the supply of sugar, and especially of those which are, or have been, deemed available for this country, no apology is thought necessary. The overwhelming importance of the subject is such that it cannot be ignored by the American people, even if they would. Politically independent for more than a century, the United States has thus far been unable to achieve its industrial and financial independence. The result has been a visitation of almost periodic monetary crises, accompanied each time by a paralysis of industries largely arising from the great indebtedness of our people to Europe. The outlook at the present moment is such as to indicate that the fruits of the protective policy which we have enjoyed for two decades, may be such as to bring at an early day our entire emancipation from this thralldom.
