A cancer grew in his throat and he IV 242. choked to death in 1850. Nothing is known of his wife, but they left two sons, IV 242 and 243 (Chart C). The eldest is a slow, quiet, industrious, honest, unambitious, and illiterate man, a mason by trade and a church sexton for many years, who like his father died of cancer on the face in 1904. He married a slow but talkative, and opinionated person, IV 241, who is now depressed, shows memory defect for past events, and has become generally very deteriorated in mind. They have seven children, V 495, 497, 499, 501, 504, 506, and 509. The first, V 495, is an alert, industrious, orderly, forward, talkative, suspicious, persistent woman, dishonest in word and deed, irritable at times and placid at others, superficially pleasant and gentle. After the death of her husband she had licentious relations with men and is now cohabiting with a vacillating, submissive, elated, religious man in New York. Her principal illness has been from erysipelas. Her husband, V 494, was unindustrious, temperate, and licentious at times, without perseverance or initiative, but with much mechanical ability and an inventive mind. Always partly supported by his unfortunate sibs he finally died at the age of thirty-five of diabetes. This pair had four children, VI 436, 437, 438, and 439. All were retarded in school-work. The eldest daughter, VI 436, is slow...
